FEBRUARY 2015

President's Message

Dear Dressage Enthusiasts,
Welcome returning members and new members to 2015! It is going to be a busy year. Have you gotten your new calendars out yet? Are you adding the dates from the ODS website, newsletter, and Chapter news concerning the activities that will be happening right around the corner. I do not enjoy the winter weather, but I enjoy the time for "winter training" projects. Like my "to do list," I never get everything accomplished what I think I will. My winter training projects are basically going back to the basics! Connection, connection, connection. More self-carriage.

Whether you show or not, knowing the dressage tests and reading "The Purpose" of each level shows the progression of training. And this year one of the key additions to "The Purpose" on each test is "confirms that the horse demonstrates correct basics." ODS has the perfect visual demonstration coming to Valley View Farm in Stillwater. It is the "New Test Symposium." Again, whether you show or not, knowing the tests will help you to know the progression of training for your horse. You will get to see examples of the tests being ridden and an expert, Melissa Cheswich, giving commentary on the demonstration of a correct, balanced movement. Melissa will explain directives of how a test movement or your exercise at home helps to correctly bring your horse. There have been changes to the submission and rider areas of the collectives. Come see and hear about the new tests and how to use the tests as a guide to developing your training program. There is also the opportunity to ride as a demonstration rider to get personal comments and directives. See more information in this newsletter and on the website. This is just the first activity of the year! Again, read your newsletter (thank you, Lee Ann, editor) and the website (thank you, Jeanie, web designer) for all the upcoming activities. Best of all, come spend time with people who enjoy what you enjoy - beautiful horses!

Roberta Clark
ODS President=

ODS has increased their dues for 2015 to $50 for an individual. However, if you renew for the next year before December 1, you will receive a $5 "early bird" discount. Makes sense(cents?) to renew early, huh?
