Letter From The President

Merry Christmas, everyone! Time is sure flying by.

At this time of year, we all get so wrapped up in all the events, shopping, decorating...please take some time for yourself and don't let the stress get to you. Find some time to ride your horse. Enjoy the cooler temperatures.

The Annual General Meeting will be at Remington Park this year, on January 26, 2019. The announcement and reservation form can be found on the website, on Facebook and in this newsletter.

Remember, we have new tests as of December 1st. Now is the time to start looking at them, memorizing them and riding some of the new combinations. Continuing to condition our horses, even when it is cold outside, is important.

I hope everyone has completed the SafeSport training modules. I know it is a nuisance, however it is required for all USEF competitions which includes all USDF shows.

So, go make some cookies or candies and enjoy your holidays with friends and family!

President, OK Dressage Society

Congratulations to ODS Riders Earning Year-End Show Awards

Throughout 2018, horses and riders from around the region have been putting their best foot (and hoof) forward at recognized and schooling horse shows. As riders' scores tallied up, their path to a year-end award was also being forged. Scores from the entire show year (Jan 1-Dec 15) are calculated to find the median, and year-end awards are then presented to riders in all divisions at all levels, from 1st through 6th place. Additional awards include a Vintage Award, a Western Dressage Award, and Horse Of The Year. For complete program rules and requirements, please refer to the 2018 ODS Membership Directory or the ODS website under the Club Info tab.

Awards will be presented at the ODS Annual General Meeting, this year being held on January 26, 2019 at Remington Park in Oklahoma City.

The following are this show season's award recipients. This is the unofficial list. All ODS members are encouraged to review this list and alert the Awards committee representative, Laura Custer (l.custer@cox.net), no later than Dec. 19th with questions, concerns or corrections.

Amanda Edwards riding Landstrider earned ODS Horse Of The Year with a median score of 71.136.

ODS Breed Awards Coordinator Needed for Spring Show

Oklahoma Dressage Society is recruiting for a coordinator for our Saturday Spring Dressage Show.

Rita Glenn, who has been our coordinator for the Breed Awards has decided to retire from this position after many many years of doing this job. She has committed to training whomever takes on this job. The position duties are to contact each of the Breed Associations to obtain ribbons and/or awards for the shows in May, receive the awards/ribbons, display them at the show, and assist in announcing the winners at the show awards ceremony.

This is a valuable position. Without a coordinator we would not be able to offer these additional awards to those participating in our show.

If you are interested please contact Roberta Clark (Show Committee Chair) at roberta.clark@sbcglobal.net or 918-605-3263.

Without our volunteers we cannot provide these types of events for our members.

Volunteers are the the life blood of ODS.

ODS President

Holiday "Chat & Chow" Gathering Highlights Para Rider Experience

On December 12 at the home of trainer & instructor Roberta Clark, ODS members gathered for some holiday cheer. ODS hosted a light dinner and members provided pot luck snacks and side dishes. Attendees heard about an amazing experience by Tulsa trainer/instructor Roberta Clark. Roberta gave a talk about receiving a $300 scholarship from ODS that went toward her attendance at a seminar on coaching Para Riders.

Her student, Lily Rhodes and her mother Pamela, also went with Roberta to this seminar.

Winter Grooming For The Fuzzy Horse

In the winter, we have two primary concerns when your horse is unclipped. One is dirt, bacteria, fungi, moisture etc. trapped on the skin by a coat. The second concern is cooling out an unclipped horse. When you have an unclipped coat, you have a great natural barrier to the elements. You also have a way for skin funk, rashes, infections, rain rot, and unseen cuts and scrapes to invade your horse. Add to that moisture from sweat and you are creating a buffet for microscopic creatures to invade. You also have the huge task of cooling out and drying your horse after exercise to avoid skin funk and your horse getting chilled to the bone. It may be time consuming, but I have some tricks for you in the grooming department.

Horse Vacuuming

Get acquainted with a vacuum for horses. Very acquainted. After a super long curry comb session, use a vacuum to get all of the “stuff” you pulled up away from your horse. No amount of flicking a brush can compare to a vacuum.

Finger Tip Inspections

Use your fingertips. Your bare naked fingertips. You will need to feel your horse everywhere to make sure scabbies and such are not forming. Also, a winter coat will hide inflammation in legs. Use your hands to inspect every inch of your horse. Other common areas for winter skin funk are the girth area and the skin folds near the elbow. These areas can sweat a lot and the folds of skin can create a mess.

Weight Watcher

You also need to use your hands to examine the ribs - make sure they are not poking out! Many horses have trouble keeping weight in the winter, so monitor this by using your hands.

Hot Toweling

Hot toweling is a time consuming method of total body grooming (or touch-up grooming) and is great for long coats. Hot and damp towels are used to “curry” the horse in small sections at a time. Use a cooler to cover each section as you finish to help dry your horse and keep him from chills. More on hot toweling here!

Waterless Shampoos

These can be great - and often a tiny amount is all you need! Many are designed to clean spots, not do a whole horse, so read the label carefully. In combination with hot toweling they can be a super way to bring back that “just washed” look for your horse.

Spot Clean

For spot cleaning, you can likely get away with a hot towel on the spot. I am a firm believer that a good diet and overall health (including regular exercise) creates a coat that is easy to clean. In the winter, you will likely be skipping the full shampoo baths, so you have plenty of time for the oils to build up on your horse's coat. Good for sliding stains away!

George Williams Grant Fund Created by The Dressage Foundation

The Dressage Foundation is pleased to announce that a new Grant Fund has been established by friends and colleagues of George Williams, to honor his years of dedication and service to the US dressage community.

Wanting to honor Williams' lifelong commitment to the sport and acknowledge his nine years as President of the United States Dressage Federation (USDF), Janna Dresing, Dr. Jeni Gaffney and Gardy Bloemers initiated the idea of this Fund. Dresing shared, "We felt that George has given so much to the dressage community in all of his roles within the USDF, and that creating a scholarship in his name would help honor his commitment to the sport. Through the generosity of the inaugural donors we are able to do something meaningful for the sport in his name."

Williams was surprised with the news of the Fund at the USDF Salute Gala on December 1st. After the announcement, he said, "I am honored to have a Grant Fund in my name, which will have a goal of helping up-and-coming young equestrians. Thank you to all the donors."

TDF's President and CEO, Beth Baumert, shared, "Those of us who hold USDF dear will never forget George's many years of wise and steady leadership. His contribution to dressage is impossible to calculate, and he set a fine example for us all. It seems very fitting that this Fund will continue beyond his tenure, giving in his honor."

The Fund's inaugural donors would like to invite others who admire Williams to make a donation to the Grant Fund. One of the inaugural donors, Gardy Bloemers, has generously offered to match the next $5,000 that is donated to the George Williams Fund.

Donations can be made by credit card on TDF's website or by calling TDF's office at (402) 434-8585. Donations by check can be mailed to TDF's office at 1314 'O' Street, Suite 305, Lincoln, Nebraska, 68508.

TDF's Board of Directors and staff will work with Williams to establish the Fund's specific purpose and guidelines. Grants will be awarded to support the US dressage community.

For more information about the new George Williams Grant Fund, contact Jenny Johnson at 402-434-8585 or jenny@dressagefoundation.org.

Spring Dressage Symposium Set for April 6 & 7 in Tulsa

The Oklahoma Dressage Society proudly presents the 2019 Spring Dressage Symposium with former USA Olympian Christine Traurig. This special event, "Training Foundations For Strength, Coordination & Self Carriage," is set for April 6 & 7 at the Tulsa Fairgrounds in the Mustang Arena. Rider applications are due no later than March 2. Auditor registrations, for one or both days, may be done online at www.dressageoklahoma.org. Lunch will be included for auditors registered by March 30 and all riders. Fees may be found online or on the flyer in this newsletter.

It is an honor that ODS will host talented Christine Traurig who is so renowned in our sport. Here is a little bit about ODS' special guest clinician:

Christine was born in Germany to parents who operated a breeding farm near Verden. At age 25, she began training and riding for Hanoverian Elite Sales in Verden. She moved to the USA in 1982 and assisted her husband, Bernie, in importing dressage and jumper horses. She spent 6 years back in Germany training with Joe Himeman, competing nationally and internationally. In 2000 Christine and her partner Etienne were on the US Team at the Sydney Olympics, earning a Team Bronze Medal. In 2002, she and Etienne were alternates for the WEG Team in Jerez. In 2015, she was appointed as the USEF National Coach for Young Dressage Horses, which took her back to her roots working with the young horses she so loves. Christine will be one of the presenters at the USDF Trainers' Conference in Florida in January 2019. Currently, she operates her training stables in Encinitas, California.

In this symposium, Christine will focus on how exercises progressively prepare horses to move up through levels by building strength, confidence and self carriage.
